

Controlling Board Release Of Funds Wipes Out Reserve

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than 300 laid off state employees apparently will get their jobs back as a result of state Controlling Board action Monday releasing $7 million in emergency funds.

But the move virtually emptied state contingency funds for the present fiscal year, and the fate of some workers at state mental institutions remained in doubt, along with others in scattered departments and agencies.

The seven-member board took under advisement a request for $2.1 million to preclude layoffs in the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation. Also left unresolved was a request for $4 million to pay overdue rents for agencies in the new State Office Tower.

Robert F. Howarth Jr., president and Gov. James A. Rhodes' representative on the board, said Monday's action left only $1.2 million in the emergency fund for the fiscal year that ends next June 30.

The legislature may be asked to try to resolve the problem when it reconvenes Oct. 21.

Sen. Max H. Dennis, R-10 Wilmington, suggested a joint meeting of the controlling board and the Legislative Budget Committee, which he heads, on Oct. 20, a day ahead of the legislature's return. He indicated that at least the office tower problem should be reviewed by the two groups.

Majority Democrats (4-3) on the board, showed their strength Monday in turning down a $897,000 request from emergency funds to restore an appropriation financing the consumer protection division in the Department of Commerce. The department director is J. Gordon Peltier, a Rhodes appointee.

Instead, the board voted along party lines to release $254,000 to Democratic Atty. Gen. William J. Brown to take over the division's consumer complaint activities. Brown has charged that Rhodes and Peltier have permitted the division to become nearly "dismantled." Peltier strongly denied the charge, asserting to newsmen "it's all politics."

The board released $3.9 million to the natural resources department to permit recall of 210 of 625 employees furloughed since Sept. 1. Department Director Robert W. Teater said the funds, although $1 million less than he requested, will prevent further layoffs in that agency.

In a related request, the board released $1.3 million to the Department of Taxation to recall 100 employees who have been laid off.

In both instances, officials promised the employees would be recalled on the basis of civil service regulations.

"I'm not going to persecute anyone because of his politics," Teater said.

New FBI Building Hated By Hoover

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI is formally opening its $126-million new home, the J. Edgar Hoover Building, a structure the late FBI director reportedly considered an architectural monstrosity.

President Ford, Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi and FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley were scheduled to address about 1,600 present and former FBI officials, members of Congress, police officials and guests at formal dedication ceremonies in the courtyard of the new building today.

Sprawling along Pennsylvania Avenue about half-way between the Capitol and the White House, the new FBI headquarters is the most expensive government office building in history.

Boys Robbed Of Quarter

TIFFIN, Ohio (AP) — Police have charged four Tiffin men with robbery after they allegedly robbed two nine-year-old boys of a quarter Monday evening.

Tiffin police said the four, ranging in age from 18 to 28, are being held under $15,000 bond each.

According to police reports the two boys, David Kern and Bobby Bean, both of Tiffin, had stopped to look at motorcycles when the men approached.

One of the men allegedly put a pipe through the spokes of one of the boys' bicycles and said he wouldn't remove it until the boys gave him money.

The boys said they gave one of the men a quarter, and that he went to a nearby store, bought two candy bars, ate them, then let the boys go.

The boys said they returned home and told their parents, who then called police.

The men arrested were identified by police as Gregory Magee, 18; Mark Cole, 19; Danny Dull, 19, and Joe McCoy, 28, all of Tiffin.

Voters Turn Down School Tax Levy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Voters in the suburban Sycamore School District Monday defeated a 4.8 mill tax levy by a vote of 2,003-1,857.

Superintendent Eugene Shrimpton said the money would have been used for current expenses. Officials said the district will be about 10 per cent short of funds next year unless voters approve another levy.

Puzzling Data Found In SLA Apartments

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — While the remnants of the Symbionese Liberation Army enlarged their arsenal and gathered the makings of a bomb factory, they collected thick files of information on business and government activities and notes on corporate officials.

Weapons, explosives and cryptically labeled file folders were listed in a 128-page inventory of items discovered at two apartments — one that had been occupied by Patricia Hearst and Wendy Yoshimura and the other by SLA members William and Emily Harris.

The FBI, which catalogued the items but declined to elaborate on many of them, made the inventory public Monday.

Miss Hearst, the Harrises and Miss Yoshimura were arrested on Sept. 18, Miss Yoshimura charged with a bombing and the other three accused of a variety of charges including bank robbery and kidnapping.

The two apartments yielded 17 guns ranging from .38-caliber revolvers to sawed-off shotguns and thousands of rounds of ammunition. In the Harris apartment, agents found several pipe bombs and materials for making more explosives.

In a file folder marked "Money," agents found a one-page diagram that apparently showed the interior of a bank teller's window, with the notations "window," and "till, coins, cash drawer."

Separate pages mentioned "Wells Fargo La Sierra" and "B of A Marysville."

A spokesman for the Bank of America said the Marysville branch has not been robbed in the past 18 months, and a Wells Fargo spokesman said there is no Wells Fargo branch in La Sierra.

Miss Hearst is charged with participating in the April 15, 1975, robbery of a Hibernia Bank branch in San

House Votes To Revoke Postal Service Freedom

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, voting to revoke the financial independence of the U.S. Postal Service, is sending a message to the service about the "Pony Express" quality of mail delivery.

The House voted 267 to 123 Monday to cut a proposed extra subsidy of $1.7-billion for the Postal Service and to require the service to come to Congress annually for funding and to put its revenues in the general treasury.

Before finishing work on the measure for the day, the House spent five hours of debate full of stinging criticism of mail delivery. Members from both sides of the aisle used the debate to cite numerous constituent complaints about slow deliveries and rising stamp prices.

The vote was on an amendment to a wide-ranging Postal Service bill. After losing on the amendment, supporters of the original bill withdrew it from immediate action in an attempt to regroup their forces. The amendment could be dropped in a later vote, which the bill's sponsors said they will probably seek next week.

The key vote came on a section of the bill that would have changed the formula for calculating the amount that the federal treasury pays to supplement the service's own revenues. Its effect would have been to raise the present subsidy of about $900 million to $2.6 billion.

The House instead adopted the amendment to cut the service's financial independence. It was offered by Rep. Bill Alexander, D-Ark., who said, "Maybe Congress can't run the post office, but it can't do any worse than the Postal Service is doing.... The record is replete with overruns, mismanagement — the classic overtones of government mismanagement."

Rep. Wayne L. Hayes, D-Ohio, claimed, "The Pony Express was better than this."

Opponents of the Alexander amendment charged it overturned the Postal Reorganization Act of 1970, which abolished the old Post Office Department in favor of an autonomous service.

Reorganization gave the Postal Service authority to handle its own revenues and annual subsidies for mail that does not pay its own way. It also created a rate commission to set the cost of stamps.

Rep. James L. Hanley, D-N.Y., whose postal subcommittee drafted the bill, said "a fundamental vendetta" against the service was responsible for adoption of the rider.

"I don't believe many of the members understood fully what they were doing," he said, adding he will try for a reversal, perhaps next week.

He said that when the bill is taken up again, he will offer a rider to limit to 28 per cent any temporary increase in postal rates. This would drop to 12 cents the 13-cent rate the Postal Service had planned to place in effect after the Christmas season.

Stage's Pond Trails Marked

NATURAL AREAS RANGER—Kenneth Temple is a ranger with the recently created Division of Natural Areas and Preserves of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources. He is in charge of Stage's Pond, Shallenberger Area and Christmas Rock. Individuals or groups wishing to visit these natural preserves should contact Temple by calling 474-7952 for permission.

Kenneth Temple, a ranger in the Natural Areas Section of the Division of Natural Areas and Preserves, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, began marking hiking trails at Stage's Pond Nature Preserve Monday.

Stage's Pond was scooped out by the last great glacier and is one of the few visible remains of the Ice Age in Pickaway County.

It was through the efforts of the Pickaway County Garden Club, in cooperation with the Columbus Council of Garden Clubs and Ohio Chapter of the Nature Conservancy, that money was raised to acquire the area. It was deeded to the Ohio Department of Natural Resources and is now under the control of DNR's newest division. The chief of the division of Natural Areas and Preserves is Richard E. Moseley Jr.

The main purpose of the division is to preserve in their natural state these areas which have been designated under its control, according to Temple.

There are two sections in the division, Temple explained. These are Scenic Rivers Section and Natural Areas and Preserves Section. There are three classes in the Natural Area and Preserves Section: Scientific, Interpretive and Scenic. Stage's Pond is classified as Interpretive.

Areas in the scientific classification are restricted and visitation is by permit only. There are hiking trails in the interpretive class areas and visitors must stay on the trails. Special permission is required for individuals studying the area to get off the trails. The Scenic areas will have hiking trails and visitors should stay on the trails although apparently the regulations will not be as rigidly enforced.

At present the trails have not been completed at Stage's Pond so visitors must contact Temple for permission to hike on the area. He does not have an office but may be contacted by calling his home, 474-7952.

The system of trails will be close enough to the pond to allow a good vista of the water, but will not be so close as to disturb the nesting and wildlife habitat in the area, Temple says.

In addition to Stage's Pond, Temple is also in charge of two other natural areas, Shallenberger and Christmas Rock. (Continued on Page 2)

Hurricane May Head For U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A revived hurricane Gladys, with winds of 110 miles an hour, plowed through the Atlantic today on a course which could lead to the U.S. mainland, forecasters said.

If currents do not turn it further to the east, it could make landfall somewhere on the Eastern Seaboard within the next three days, the National Hurricane Center in Miami said.

A forecaster at the center said, however, it is too early to predict where, if anywhere, Gladys might touch land. Gladys now threatens no land area, the center said.

Early today Gladys was located in the Atlantic about 850 miles east of Miami and was moving northwesterly at 15 miles per hour.

Thunderstorms were reported today in the Carolinas, Florida, Kansas and the Oklahoma and Texas panhandles. Showers dampened parts of Colorado, Wyoming, western Nebraska, South Dakota and from Minnesota into the upper Great Lakes region.

Outside the precipitation areas, clear skies are the rule.

Temperatures around the nation at 3 a.m. ranged from 33 at Laramie, Wyo., to 86 at Needles, Calif.

Rocky To Visit In Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Indianapolis is one of six cities Vice President Nelson Rockefeller will visit to conduct public forums on domestic policy.

President Ford announced Monday he is sending Rockefeller to preside at the one-day sessions. The Indianapolis visit, Nov. 25, is next to last on the schedule that also includes Denver, Colo.; Tampa, Fla.; Austin, Tex.; Philadelphia and Los Angeles.

Earlier this month, Republican State Chairman Thomas Milligan announced Rockefeller would speak at a luncheon in Indianapolis Oct. 23.

more than 100 books ranging from Marx and Lenin to Herbert Marcuse and Chairman Mao.

Hundreds of clippings from the New York Times, Wall Street Journal, San Francisco Examiner, San Francisco Chronicle, Oakland Tribune and other publications were also found in the Harris apartment.

In a file folder marked "Oil — PG&E — etc." was a clipping of a picture of Charles De Brettville, Bank of California board chairman and a member of the boards of directors of Pacific Gas & Electric Co. and Safeway.

Literature of the New World Liberation Front (NWLF), a radical group closely associated with the SLA, was also found. Police have described the NWLF as a small terrorist organization. The carport of De Brettville's home was firebombed on Aug. 4, 1975, and the NWLF issued a communique claiming responsibility for the

In Sacramento on Monday, Chief Deputy Dist. Atty. Geoffrey Burroughs said authorities there are investigating robberies at the Crocker Bank in suburban Carmichael on April 21, 1975, and the Guild Savings and Loan Co.'s Sacramento office on Feb. 25, 1975, for possible SLA connections.

The four robbers who shot and killed a woman patron during the Carmichael robbery wore ski masks.

The FBI inventory of the Harris apartment included a navy blue ski mask.

In both the Hearst and Harris apartments, agents found more than a dozen wigs, large quantities of makeup and cosmetics and a wide variety of sunglasses and clothing.

Phony identification documents, including college student ID cards and California drivers' licenses in the names of deceased persons, were also found in both apartments, along with

Dippel Begins Oct. 5 Directing 'Brigadoon'

Rehearsals for Roundtown Players' fairy-tale musical "Brigadoon" are underway on schedule despite last minute resignations of the director and choreographer due to ill health.

Returning to direct his fifth play for the local dramatic group, Jim Dippel of Grove City agreed to the last-minute replacement in spite of his own heavy schedule which includes his professional appearance in the current Columbus-Springfield Dinner Theater production, "A Thousand Clowns." Dippel plays the part of Albert Amundsen in the six night a week production ending October 5. His one free evening until the fifth is reserved for blocking "Brigadoon."

Dippel feels his limited participation during the first three weeks of rehearsal will present no problems since this period is usually spent preparing dance and chorus numbers, which Music Director Clara Tegardin and Choreographer Jeff Stonerock are well-qualified to handle. Assistant Director Helen Blum will supervise acting and blocking rehearsals until Dippel is available full time.

The cast for the show includes several newcomers, one cast in the role of leading lady Fiona MacLaren. Twana Moats of Route 4, a speech and drama teacher at Logan Elm High School, will star as the Scottish lass who falls in love with Tommy Albright, an American boy portrayed by Rene Saxton of Grove City. Rene appeared in last seasons productions of "Sound of Music" and "Come Blow Your Horn."

Other members of the cast are: Janice Perdon portraying Meg Brockie; Gary Vermillion as Jeff Douglas; Becky Sowers as Jean MacLaren; Frank McKay as Archie Beaton; Jeff Stonerock as Harry Beaton; Ed Herel as Mr. Lundy; Herb Sprenger as Andrew MacLaren; Gladden Troutman as Angus Macguffie; Jerry Wexler as Stuart Dalrymple; Pat Stonerock as Maggie Anderson; Robin Diehl as Jane Ashton; John Thompson as Frank and Larry Blum as Sandy.

Members of the chorus are: Barb Alkire, Evelyn Perdon, Andrea Downing; Lucy Tammen, Sheri Fausnaugh, Judith Stuckey, Diane Wexler, Marilyn Sprenger, Larry Blum, Lois Ann Rustin, Katie Schneider, Linda Fisher, Janet Spring, Shannon Yunker, Gates Yunker, Wanda Fosnaugh, and Linda Davis.

The musical will run Nov. 6-9 and Nov. 13-15. The November 9 performance is a matinee. All seats will be reserved.

Hospital Relations Committee Formed

A group of people in the county and community have been named to a public relations committee by Berger Hospital Administrator Charles Rideout. Rideout explains that the purpose of this committee is to help the hospital board with some of the problems encountered concerning the medical needs of the community.

At a get-acquainted meeting of the committee Monday night, the administrator explained some of the problems presently facing the hospital. At the top of the list is the inadequate number of physicians serving this community. Rideout noted, however, this problem is being remedied to an extent. The hospital board has added two surgeons to the staff within the last three months. Announcement has also been made of two family physicians joining Dr. William Myers' practice.

Rideout talked to the committee about the $2 1/2 million project underway. The new ancillary addition to the hospital will provide six to eight

Directory Assistance Is For New Numbers

Starting Wednesday, directory assistance operators will be answering calls to "113" as "new-number information," General Telephone Co. of Ohio announced today.

William D. Anderson, Circleville customer service manager, said the new phrase clearly tells the caller that this service is intended to provide new numbers not listed in the current telephone directory.

"In the past ten years, calls to directory assistance have increased 105 per cent," the manager continued, "and our studies indicate that nearly 80 per cent of the numbers requested are listed in the directory."

"We do want people to use their directories," he said. "That's why they are revised annually. Any new numbers not listed in the directory will be provided quickly by the 'new-number information' operators."

Accidents Injure 3

Sheriff's Authorities investigated two injury accidents Monday with one driver receiving a warning.

In an accident at 2 p.m. Monday at the intersection of Routes 22 and 104, a Department of Transportation truck, driven by Joseph C. Lee, 25, 225 Pearl St., was stopped in westbound traffic waiting for a school bus to turn south onto 104, when another westbound auto driven by George A. Hastings, 19, Route 2, Williamsport failed to observe the stopped traffic, striking the truck.

Hastings applied his brakes and skidded into the rear of the ODT truck, continued across the roadway and came to rest in the intersection.

Hastings and a passenger, Bradley L. Beatty, 17, Williamsport, were referred to a doctor for minor injuries.

Deputy Dewey gave a written warning to Jerry L. Halley, 16, Route 1, Williamsport, when he was involved in a single-car accident, 3:25 p.m. Monday on the Dawson-Yankeetown Road.

Halley was westbound on Dawson Road entering a one-lane bridge at an excessive speed when he lost control of his auto after hitting a bump in the bridge.

Hally applied his brakes causing the auto to skid off the roadway and strike an embankment. The vehicle came to rest on its side in a ditch.

A passenger, Dwight J. Halley, 17, Williamsport, was referred to a physician for minor injuries.

Rock, both located in Fairfield County.

Shallenberger is a formation of Blackhand Sandstone rising nearly 300 feet in the air. It is located at the terminal moraine of the last glacier. Christmas Rock is a blackhand sandstone formation in an isolated portion of Fairfield County. Right now it is very difficult to get to Christmas Rock, Temple says.

Temple recently completed a training seminar on the management of state nature preserves held at the Park Ranger Academy at Zaleski State Forest. He noted the division is very much understaffed at the present with about 15 people doing the work of 40 at all the preserves in the state.

There are plans to provide parking areas at the preserves, improve the access to Christmas Rock and complete the trails. But there are no plans for constructing picnic facilities at any of the areas since the accent is on preservation of the areas in their natural state.

Temple is a 1972 graduate of Circleville High School where he was a member of the Tiger football team. He attended Hocking Technical College where he studied Recreation and Wildlife with a police science option. He received his two-year associate degree graduating with honors.

He worked at A. W. Marion State Park since May of 1972 until his present assignment which came in August of this year.

In August of this year he married the former Martha Dumm of Laurelvile. They reside at 108 1/2 Rosewood Ave. Temple's hobbies closely parallel his vocation. He loves hunting, fishing and trapping devoting much of his leisure time to these activities.

He is the son of Circleville Chief of Police and Mrs. Robert Temple.

'Tecumseh' Producer Is Guest Panelist At Arts Convention

W. L. Mundell, President of The Scioto Society, Inc., was guest panelist at the first annual convention of Ohio Community Arts Councils, held in Columbus last weekend.

In a Saturday afternoon seminar, Mundell urged cooperation among the arts in the state. "This is a reciprocal situation," Mundell stated, "Think about it. The way you become known is to know people and work with them. You stand together or you fell separately . . . support the arts, write letters, help . . . Everybody gets a share of the pie if everybody helps to make the pie."

Getting down to the specifics of fund raising for artistic endeavors, Mundell explained, "We had to build a five hundred thousand dollar Amphitheatre. We took a look at the area and found we couldn't do it in Ross County alone. We had to stretch out our groundwork to Pike and Pickaway counties . . . Today we have a firm foundation of cooperation across three counties."

The convention was held at the Pick Fort Hayes Hotel, under the sponsorship of the Ohio Arts Council, for the purpose of uniting and aiding Community Councils. Also attending the conference were Lucy Hosterman and Benny Peters of Circleville's "Gallery on Main Street", and Allen

Witt of The Scioto Society. The Society is the official Community Arts Council for this area.

Van Camp Agri-Systems Division Features Butler Products

BUTLER'S FARMSTEAD GARAGE was a welcome addition to the Porter Martin home. The double-doored 30-by-25-foot unit has room for Martin's car and camper, and additional storage space for other items.

THESE BUTLER Grain bins, being built on the Clifford Bowser farm, will be 30-by-18 feet when completed and capable of holding 11,600 bushels of grain each. Van Camp Agri-Systems Division is the authorized Butler dealer in Pickaway County.

MRS. ERVIN KIRK, Route 1, Ashville, discusses the aspects of the Butler Farmstead 40-by-50 foot unit with T.D. Van Camp, president of the Van Camp Contracting Co. The unit was especially constructed with an open end for the Kirks, who wish to extend its length at a later date.

BUTLER'S FARMSTEAD line also includes this 40-by-50 foot unit with double slide doors on both ends. It is an invaluable unit on the Porter Martin farm. The double doors are 24-by-13 feet.

BUTLER ACQUIRED the Kan Sun Continuous Flow Grain Dryer from Oswalt Industries in 1970 to be sold with all Butler equipment. It is sold and serviced at Van Camp Agri-Business Division.

There may be some people curious as to why the Van Camp Contracting Co., historically a bituminous paving contractor, has recently formed the Van Camp Agri-Systems Division to go into the business of selling, erecting, and servicing grain bins, dryers, and steel buildings for the agricultural market.

It's a fair question, and T.D. Van Camp, president, would like to comment on it for those who might be interested.

"Like many others, I have talked with over the past several years, I feel a company whose sales and goals remain constant or only increase by the rate of inflation is headed for trouble. In our particular case, the recent spiraling increases in costs of energy, equipment, and the petroleum products from which we get our paving asphalt has forced us to increase our average unit selling prices in an attempt to keep pace with costs. Neither public nor private budgets have increased significantly during this same period. As a result, the actual physical units of asphalt we normally manufacture and place has declined two years in a row. Total dollar sales, however, have remained fairly constant during this period, partially because of unit price increases and partially because of an effort over the last five years to develop the necessary skills to participate in the general contracting market in conjunction with the paving market. This general market too, however, has been rocked and reeled by the same forces that have hammered at the paving market and the entire economy in general.

"A little over a year ago, we again reassessed our strengths and weaknesses looking for some clue as to how we could convert dormant skills, management, and parked equipment into live, cash sales. Surely, somebody needed a small site developed, some concrete formed and poured, some pipe installed, or some steel fabricated. Our first job was to figure out who could use the skills, management, and equipment we had to offer, and secondly, we had to determine if they would be willing to pay for them.

"Being rurally oriented anyway, it wasn't too long before our thoughts gravitated towards the farm. There appeared to be the possibility of a need for turn-key construction with single source responsibility, but there was certainly no lack of individual competition within the field of grain bins and farm buildings including the farmer — grain bin dealer himself.

After much deliberation, we decided to give it our best shot.

"Today's farmer is a tough, discriminating buyer. He'd better be if he wants to stay in business. At today's prices, he can't afford many mistakes.

"Each year, there are fewer farmers feeding more people. Today's grain farmer is the epitome of labor efficiency. He can produce more bushels of grain with less labor content than anyone else in the world. He has the right to be proud of his contribution to society and to America's balance of trade. You would think that a man in this enviable position could sit back and enjoy the fruits of his hard labor. He'd better not! If he does, there is a good chance that there will be one less farmer in the group that is feeding more and more people tomorrow.

"The technology he has mastered and the modern equipment that he uses plus just the plain old ambition to do a better job are some of the important things that set our farmers apart from the rest.

"We feel very fortunate to have become associated in this endeavor with the Butler Manufacturing Co. of Kansas City, Missouri. Butler has been building equipment for farmers for over 60 years. They manufacture a well-engineered, high-quality product that is designed for the farmer who intends to be in business for many years. They have also been innovative in engineering research and design. The slantwall Farmstead buildings pictured here were invented by Butler in 1970. Since that time, at least 20 different manufacturers have copied this extremely popular design.

"Also in 1970, Butler redesigned the standard corrugated grain bin sheet width to 44 inches. While increasing its strength by 12 per cent, they reduced the number of seams, bolts, and manholes needed to erect a bin. That same year, they acquired Oswalt Industries of Garden City, Kansas, who were the originators of the Kan Sun Continuous Flow Grain Dryer, which all Butler Agri-Builders now sell and service.

"Probably because of our own equipment investment, I have a great appreciation for the investment that today's farmers have in their equipment and facilities and for the amount of money they lose each year at harvest time if that equipment is idle or down for one reason or another. The Butler equipment we sell is designed to keep that down time to a minimum and the farmers of this area have our pledge that when they need service on the equipment, they are going to get it when they need it."

SITE OF THE new 48-by-100 foot Flo-Lizer Inc. Farmstead warehouse in Ashville is being surveyed by Ed Bohenko, VCCC, Carl Starlin, VCA-S, Jeff Bigham, Flo-Lizer, and Chris Schein, VCA-S. This slant wall building will feature a vertical double dormer sidewall with two, 16-by 12-8-foot vertical overhead doors.

A Page Of Opinion

Lament For Days Gone By

In the midst of today's hurried existence, occasionally one is reminded of simpler times. Such an occasion came when this writer was engaged in moving some furniture and came across portions of a Dayton newspaper dated March 2, 1961.

Naturally, the front page brought back reminders of old problems. Gen. Charles DeGaulle was talking with Algerians about independence. The recently-inaugurated President John F. Kennedy was pushing an antirecession bill, and no one had heard of the Bay of Pigs, and barely of Vietnam.

Astronaut Alan Shepard was preparing for the first space flight. Fighting was raging in the Congo. On the sports pages, Sugar Ray Robinson was getting ready to fight George Fullmer and Jerry Lucas was named Basketball player of the year while attending Ohio State.

But perhaps where nostalgia ran rampant was in the advertising.

On March 2, 1961, whole or half boneless hams were selling for 69 cents a pound, and sirloin tip steak was 79 cents a pound, while blade cut chuck roast was going for 43 cents a pound.

Five pounds of sugar cost 39 cents, while flour was 52 cents for five pounds. Cracked wheat bread could be had for 19 cents a loaf, potatoes 10 pounds for 39 cents and onions three pounds for 29 cents.

Bacon was 59 cents a pound.

Moving on to the classified pages, this writer noted that houses in Dayton could be rented for $75 per month, with areally fine house going up to $120 per month.

Among land for sale was 163 acres near Fairborn for $490 per acre. A four-bedroom brick home on over four acres was for sale for $21,900.

A 116-acre tract near Hillsboro with land, buildings, 20 cows, 13 sows and the crops was selling for $21,000. For a real bargain, 124 acres north of Dayton with 80 being good farmland and 20 more in woods, with a house, some farm equipment and household goods could be purchased for $16,400.

Old Pro Sounds Off

By JIM BISHOP

NEW YORK — Recently at the Overseas Press Club's "Old Pro Night," I had to sit as the guest of honor and listen to the old pros and then the old pros were kind enough to listen to me:

It was a vintage period for print journalism — 1937 — in the morning ... the Sun, Times, Herald Trib, American, News, Mirror and Journal, World Telegram, Post, Brooklyn Eagle and Bronx Home News in the afternoon.

We had had Runyon, Pegler, Broun, Corum, Winchell, Sullivan, John McNulty, Bugs Baer, Arthur Krock, Inez Robb, Jack Miley, Stanley Woodward, Joe Williams, Tom Meany, Dan Parker, Bill Slocum, Bill McGeehan, John Kieran, Jim Bishop, Jimmy Cannon, Anne O'Hare McCormick, Jimmy Kilgallen and Dorothy, Mike Berger, Jack Lait, Henry McLemore, Pat Morin, Hal Boyle, Saul Pett, Scotty Reston, Dave Walsh ... Lawton Carver, Grantland Rice ...

God forgive me those who slip my mind. Maybe He will. Arthur Brisbane died a week before I got here. He was God.

It's a different ball game today. New York is down to three papers, but there is every likelihood we'll have a fourth — the New York Press — before the snow flies. It will be a 5-day a week, full-sized afternoon paper, into whose preparation the owner has already invested more than $10,000,000.

Today's reporter is better educated than when I came here. He is a product of a good school of journalism, by and large, asks more pertinent questions, drinks less, and goes home at night. He thinks Toots Shor is a topless madam.

The Broadway Column, once plentiful, is now listed among the endangered species. Its sturdiest practitioners are Jack O'Brian and Earl Wilson. The prototype of the police reporter, circa 1937, Mike Claffey, let's say, has gone to his reward. As for the City Hall Reporter, he now has to be an accountant.

More and more, the columnists are Washington based. Washington has long since replaced New York as the most familiar dateline for spot news. Mr. Pegler's friend, President Roosevelt, saw to that. However, New York maintains its old tradition of being tops in crime news. The trouble there, however, is that the wrong people are now committing the crimes. When I first came here we had classy hoodlums, like Frank Costello, Dutch

NEW YORK (AP) — You often hear the U.S. consumer economy being described as turning more toward the production of services, in which travel, rents, education and the like are offered in greater abundance than goods.

The assumption is widely accepted, but not by Fabian Linden, research chief at The Conference Board, a private research organization. He maintains that such a trend, while it was true in the 1950s, hasn't been spotted since.

He says that in recent years "the proportion of total consumer spending that goes for services has remained more or less constant."

He suggests that one reason for the persistence of the notion is that service prices have risen more sharply than those for goods, in part because productivity of goods rises faster than that of services.

For example, technological innovations, new materials, new work methods and other factors improve productivity in the goods sector. But how to you obtain similar improvements in the productivity of a barber or doctor?

Linden says the faster price increases for services helps lead to the illusion that production-consumption of services continues to grow at a rate faster than for goods. It may be precisely opposite.

Linden writes in the "Conference Board Record" that "one of the more striking changes in the pattern of consumer spending since the early sixties has been the decline in the importance of services."

He concedes that following World War II services claimed a growing share of the family budget, "rising from roughly 35 per cent to 40 per cent of total personal consumption expenditures in the course of the Fifties."

But, unless there has been a change in the past two years, this pattern no longer seems to prevail. It appears to have ended in the 1960-1973 period, and since 1967 actually may have turned the other way.

Where does that leave us? In 1973, consumer spending was 42 per cent per cent services, 58 per cent goods, and there probably has been little change since then.

Based on 1973 figures — which showed total personal consumption spending at more than $800 billion and less than $350 billion of that for services — the board offers this percentage breakdown of service spending:

Shelter, between 34 and 35 per cent; medical, about 15; household operations, 14; personal business, between 13 and 14; transportation, about 7; higher education, 2; foreign travel, less than 2; other, 12 per cent.

There is an asterisk accompanying that shelter percentage. Linden fears the rate is bound to rise. He explains:

The condition of shelter seems to be deteriorating. Housing starts have been inadequate to accommodate growth and of offset obsolescence.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My oldest sister is 56. As long as I can remember she has had colitis with ulcers. Is there no cure for this condition?

Mrs. T.H., Ind.

Dear Mrs. H.:

I assume that the condition you describe is the one known as "chronic ulcerative colitis." This has no relationship to the familiar ulcer found in the stomach.

This type of colitis is a complex disorder of the large intestine. Its duration is long and patients run through periods of being better, and then reverting to activation of the disease.

For a long time, it was assumed that there was a dominant psychological basis for this disease. Certainly, it is not the only cause because it is a distinct bacterial infection of the lining of the large intestine.

Because it is persistent and chronic, the combination of disease and psychological distress leaves the patient physically and emotionally devitalized.

The diagnosis is made by X-ray studies of the bowel, with special techniques that show the rigidity of the intestine due to long-standing disease.

Now, with antibiotics, sulfa drugs and cortisone, combined with special diets, chronic invalidism can very often be prevented.

In special cases, surgery is performed. In addition to all these forms of treatment, it has been found that psychological support can be very effective in returning patients with chronic ulcerative colitis to almost normal productivity.

What is meant by a "floating kidney?"

Mr. E. F., Mass.

Dear Mr. F.: This term refers to a displacement of the kidney from its normal position.

A sudden injury may be responsible. There are no specific symptoms by which this unusual condition can be identified. When it is suspected, X-rays with radio-opaque dyes can show the abnormal position.

A special type of surgery can be performed in which the kidney is returned to its normal position.

Lifestyle Changes Hit South Vietnam

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Foreigners arriving from Saigon report that the recent currency conversion has wiped out the wealth of many in South Vietnam's middle and upper classes, causing despair and talk of moving to the countryside to farm.

"Nothing changed for the poor," one of the travelers said, "but among the wealthy a sense of hopelessness and resignation has finally set in."

Vietnamese distrustful of banks had millions of piasters hidden in their homes. Single persons were allowed to exchange the equivalent of $20 worth of the old government's currency at a rate of 500 old piasters for one new one. Families could exchange $132 worth.

Old piasters now are worthless.

The government forbade anyone to exchange money for someone else, but the travelers said some persons got relatives and friends to make exchanges for them.

The currency reform was accompanied by other economic measures: lower fixed prices of basic commodities, nationalization of some small shops and some "voluntary" communication of land, the foreigners said. Rice, cloth, sugar, tobacco, cement and steel bars were reduced 30 to 70 per cent.

There also are increased denunciations of former wealthy, privileged persons and merchants.

"People don't talk freely any more," said one traveler. "They are afraid of being denounced. The 'bo doi' (military cadres) are encouraging the population to inform on friends, relatives or neighbors for real or imagined wrongs."

"Nobody wanted to leave Saigon after the liberation. Now, however, some realize that farming will be the way of life in the future and they are beginning to talk of going to the 'new economic areas,' (sparsely populated rural areas set aside for development).

"Those talking of leaving want land near water. Some want to go now before the good land is taken."

Textile mills, electronic assembly plants and other factories are reported short of raw materials, causing production to lag and contributing to unemployment.

The Communist revolution is said to have hit the urban masses hardest. Those arriving here said Vietnamese coming from the provinces reported life for the rural 65 per cent of the population has changed little or for the better.

In once-insecure rural areas, living is reported better.

"Before, people settled in gray areas were intimidated by both sides. Now they pay taxes to one side. They can sleep easier at night," one foreigner said.

The travelers report the rampant crime after the Communist victory has decreased. There is less looting at night in the city. Reports of former soldiers of the South Vietnamese army holding up buses and of small-scale resistance to the Communists still filter into the capital, but they are difficult to verify, the sources said.

Clear Way For Ford China Visit

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Chinese Foreign Minister Chiao Kuanhua have cleared the way for President Ford to visit Peking in November.

The two men met over dinner for four hours Sunday night and had a "complete and friendly talk about every aspect of our relations," Kissinger reported.

When asked if he and Chiao had set a date for Ford's visit, he replied that an announcement will be made soon. But he added that "everything is on schedule."

Later, a U.S. official in Kissinger's party said the secretary would go to Peking just after mid-October to prepare for Ford to follow in late November.

This official said Chiao agreed to the tentative schedule, and a firm date will be set in the next few days.

Kissinger came to New York Sunday for his second round of meetings with foreign ministers attending the General Assembly. In addition to Chiao, he met on Sunday with Angel Federico Roldo of Argentina, and today he was meeting with representatives of Chile, Norway, Romania, Liberia, Tunisia and Cyprus.

Tonight he is giving a dinner for the delegates from Arab nations.

Kissinger's office announced that he would meet Tuesday morning with Syrian Foreign Minister Abdul Halim Khaddam.

2 Persons Dead Of Exhaust Fumes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two persons were found dead of apparent carbon monoxide poisoning Monday in a car at a landfill, the Franklin County sheriff's office said.

Authorities said employees at the landfill found the bodies when they came to work Monday. The victims were identified as Robert Block, 28, an employee at the landfill, and Elizabeth Workman, 22, both of Columbus.

The pair were last seen alive Saturday night.

They'll Do It Every Time

Libya Pushes Islamic Center

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Libya is pumping a hefty bundle of its petrodollars into a budding Islamic center to spread the faith in Africa as well as to Christians in Europe and the Americas.

In downtown Tripoli, on the compound of what was the Roman Catholic cathedral only five years ago is now the headquarters of the Islamic Call Society. It directs a network of about 200 "propagators" in 35 branches ranging from Brazil to Japan, Denmark to Kenya.

The society, also maintaining close contact with North America's black and white Moslems, is financed in part by the four per cent holy war tax Libya imposes on income and sales. Its budget is put at 20 million a year and it is increasing.

While it provides an international apparatus for strongman Moammar Khadafy's revival of Islamic fundamentalism at home, its fervor and zeal supply challenge to the delicate and carefully nurtured detente between Christianity and Islam, the world's two largest religions whose warriors once slaughtered each other as an act of faith.

The society's declared aim is to teach Islam, considered by Libya's revolutionary and devout Moslem leaders as "the seal of all other religions." But conversions — particularly of Christians in the West — are prominently mentioned. "A Danish lady came all the way to Tripoli yesterday to embrace Islam," a society official said. "An Italian lady is next."

"We are now accepted even in Western societies," says the society's head, Sheikh Mahmud Subhi.

Black Africa, however, still remains the society's prime target as it is for Christian missionaries, particularly for Roman Catholic orders.

Islam's drive southward has won over 140 million of the continent's 340 million population, officials here claim, but an African bishop, Jean Zoa of Cameroun, said he expects the continent's Christians, now only 23 per cent of the population, to make up over a half by the year 2000.

"In Africa we are ahead," Sheikh Subhi said in an interview. "But it's not because of hard work by Moslem or Christian missionaries. It's simply because Islam is a religion of nature. It preaches equality. That simple fact appeals to people."

In parts of Africa swept by rapid decolonization, Christianity is still portrayed as white man's religion.

While there exists no known incidents in drives for conversions, Khadafy has promised help to Moslem rebels fighting central governments dominated by Christians, especially aid to Eritrea's Moslem rebels against Ethiopia, and the Moslems in the Philippines. Libya is also said to have aided Lebanon's Moslems in recent sectarian warfare there.

Khadafy views them more as political "liberation" movements than just religious conflicts. "To incite Moslems against Christians and vice versa is not among Islamic principles," he once said.

Defendants Appear On Felony Charges

Seven men appeared before Judge William Ammer Monday on felony charges. The court sentenced two of the seven to prison terms and suspended two other prison sentences.

James A. Campbell, South Bloomingville, appeared before the common pleas court on arraignment for the charge of forgery. Campbell was indicted by the September Grand Jury in its first session. He pleaded guilty to the charge and the court ordered the Adult Parole Authority to prepare a pre-sentence report on the defendant.

Also indicted by the last Grand Jury, Russell C. Weeks appeared on charges of vehicular homicide and operating a motor vehicle while under the influence. He pleaded not guilty to both charges.

An old case charging Alex Hopson, Columbus, with burglary and larceny was heard during the morning proceedings. Hopson was sentenced to two terms of six months to five years each at the Ohio State Penitentiary. The judge suspended the two concurrent terms and placed Hopson on probation for three years.

Daniel Brungs was found guilty of violation of probation. He was originally convicted of petit theft and placed on probation in April, 1971. The court revoked his probation and continued the case for sentencing.

A case filed in 1972 was also heard during the weekly session of court. Melvin Jenkins, charged in 1972 for failure to provide for minor children, pleaded guilty Monday to the charge and was sentenced to a six-month term in the Pickaway County Jail. The court suspended the jail sentence and placed Jenkins on probation for three years.

Jenkins also was advised that extradition proceedings were pending against him in the states of Kentucky and Florida. He refused to waive his rights of extradition.

Also appearing during the morning was Timothy Morgan, charged with violation of probation and receiving stolen property. He was placed on probation in July.

Morgan pleaded guilty to both the charges against him and was sentenced to two concurrent terms of six months to five years each in the Ohio State Reformatory for Men at Mansfield.

A final appearance Monday was made by Dean Davis, South Bloomfield, charged with two counts of theft and two counts of breaking and entering. He was sentenced to four concurrent terms of six months to five years each at the Mansfield Reformatory for Men.

Davis was also found guilty Monday of violation of probation by being charged with assault and battery. He was sentenced to an additional term of six months to five years in the Mansfield Reformatory and the court ordered the final sentence to run concurrently with the other four.

Our forefathers weren't any smarter
than we are.
Or were they?

In two hundred years, America has grown from a wilderness into the strongest, healthiest, richest country in the world. Thanks to its human energy and natural resources.

We still have plenty of human energy and, hopefully, some good old common sense. And we had better start using them to solve the growing shortage of our nation's energy. Our nation's economy depends on an adequate supply of energy, particularly natural gas.

Natural gas supplies over half of all the fuel American industry needs to keep going. As natural gas supplies grow shorter, the nation's industrial might grows softer. Less and less natural gas will mean more and more cut backs, layoffs, closings. America has no alternate fuel available to take up the slack.

Industry and the consuming public, in short all of us, are suffering primarily due to unwise government regulations that make natural gas exploration unprofitable for drillers. And, since exploration is unprofitable, it is unattractive to investors whose money is needed to search for new gas.

The nation's potential supply of natural gas is estimated to be about fifty times the amount of gas used last year. If drillers are given an incentive to find more natural gas, they will.

That incentive must come from our nation's capital. That is where the will of the people is put into action. America needs action now. America needs energy to keep alive and growing. The past two hundred years should be only the beginning.

Miss Jennifer Lynn Price, Douglas Alan Moore Are Wed

MR. AND MRS. DOUGLAS ALAN MOORE

The marriage of Miss Jennifer Lynn Price and Mr. Douglas Alan Moore took place 2:30 p.m., Sept. 6, in the Campus Church of Circleville Bible College.

The Rev. Melvin Maxwell performed the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Price, 1063 Georgia Road, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Moore, 670 E. Ohio St.

Mrs. Kenneth Baldwin, organist and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Eastman, vocalists, provided a program of music preceding the ceremony.

Vases holding white daisies, gladioli and baby's breath were placed on the altar and white satin bows marked the pews.

Given in marriage by her father and mother, the bride selected for her wedding a full length gown of sheer organza frosted with blossoms of Venice lace outlining the crystal pleats at the V-neckline, adorning the pin tucked bodice and sheer bishop sleeves with ruffled cuffs. The full skirt had a pick up front and the full chapel length veil of French illusion was held in place by a Juliet cap of lace and seed pearls in a lattice design. She carried a colonial bouquet of white daisies and mums, yellow roses and baby's breath with satin streamers.

Miss Ruth Garner was maid of honor in a floor length gown of nile green crepe with long straight sleeves, flared skirt and an empire waistline on the fitted bodice with an oval neckline enhanced with green lace forming a high collar. She wore a white picture hat with a delicate floral design and carried a colonial bouquet of daisies, mums, carnations, baby's breath and lily of the valley with yellow and white streamers.

Flower girls were Miss Melissa Price, sister of the bride and Miss Bethanne Daniels. They wore formal length gowns of nile green crepe with embossed white and pink flowers. The

Fort Wayne Man Wins Case Appeal

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indiana Court of Appeals has reversed the conviction of a Fort Wayne man sentenced to prison for attempting to establish a 13-year-old girl as a prostitute.

Delbert L. Shorter was convicted of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, sentenced to six months in jail and fined $500 by Allen Superior Court Judge Philip R. Thieme.

The appeals court ruling noted the girl, who previously had run away from her parents, was taken by Shorter from a place where she was living and established in a motel room where she was expected to practice prostitution.

The decision said that "encouraging a juvenile to remain away from a home she already has deserted does not contribute to any defined act of delinquency." It said that upholding the conviction would "criminalize conduct on the part of compassionate citizens who provide runaways with food and lodging."

Mourning Dove Bill To Be Revived

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rep. Eugene Branstool, farmer-legislator from Utica, will try to revive his bill outlawing the hunting of mourning doves when the legislature comes back to town Oct. 21.

"There was a lot of confusion, some people didn't know what it was all about," said the freshman legislator of his bill which became cooped up in the Senate Rules Committee.

"The real issue isn't just mourning doves, although I'm against shooting them personally. It involves all game birds, and whether the legislature wants to give up its right to say which ones we want to protect," he added.

The Licking County legislator referred to the fact that unknowingly the legislature in 1973 gave up its right to regulate the hunting of wild birds when it enacted the so-called Protected Species Act.

Holdover members of both chambers admitted they didn't know all that was in the bill, including the relinquishing of that particular authority to the State Division of Wildlife.

Acting under its new authority, the wildlife division opened a two-month season on mourning doves late this summer. It was the first such season since 1908, and the resulting outcry from environmentalists and others prompted the legislation.

Branstool said, however, that the discovery that the legislature no longer had its traditional power to protect game birds was his primary motivation.

On the other side of the issue, Natural Resources Director Robert W. Teater, said Branstool's bill was "a step backward", and asserted the division (within his department) should have the authority to devise and implement an efficient game management plan.

In the case of the bountiful mourning dove, he said the season this year hardly would make a dent in the estimated six million population. Teater indicated departmental lobbyists would be happy to see the pending measure die a quiet death in Senate Rules.

The bill passed the House Sept. 11 by a vote of 73-17 along mixed party lines. It subsequently was recommended by the Senate Judiciary Committee but was grounded 4-4 by the rules committee, which assigns measures to floor votes.

Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, the ninth member of the Cornerstone Peek Eyed

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — Licking County officials are debating whether to tear into the courthouse cornerstone to look for historical items that may have been placed there in 1876.

The officials aren't sure the items are there, although Masonic lodge records indicate a box of items was included when the stone was laid.

County Commission Clerk Louis Muenz fears the box may have been used for ceremonial purposes and located elsewhere when the building was finished two years later.

In the meantime, discussions continue on whether to drill into the cornerstone to take a peek. Any items found would be displayed during next year's bicentennial observances.

"There seems to be a great deal of enthusiasm for the project," Muenz said. "We don't think finding the money for it will be much of a problem."

But Muenz and others agree their job would be easier if they could find a 100-year-old resident with a good memory.

Orchestra Praised

BONN, West Germany (AP) — The Cleveland Orchestra, under the direction of Lorin Maazel, won critical praise today for the technical precision it demonstrated in concert here.

The performance Friday was the third by a major orchestra in Beethoven Hall in the last two weeks and afforded local critics a chance for comparison with the New York and Israel Philharmonics.

The Bonn General-Anzeiger said in its review that the 120 Cleveland musicians "were several degrees superior to the New York and Israel Philharmonics in technical precision, razor sharp tonal articulation and orchestral artistry. This is not to say automatically that everything they performed was better in a broader musical sense than what their colleagues from Tel Aviv and New York presented."

The program included a ballet suite from Bartok's "Wonderful Mandarin," Mozart's Gminor Symphony and Brahms's Second Symphony.

ISSUE 1
AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION
Proposed by Initiative Petition
Text of the Proposed Constitutional Amendment

Be it resolved by the people of the State of Ohio: ARTICLE XII, Section 13.

It is hereby declared to be a proper public purpose and the public policy of this state to encourage and assist in the construction of new industrial plants, the replacement, modernization and addition of capital equipment in existing industrial plants, the retention of such plants in the state, and the revitalization of cities, and it is hereby declared that the following laws, sections and laws enacted and regulations adopted pursuant to this section will directly and indirectly encourage and assist the aforesaid purposes and create or preserve jobs, enhance employment opportunities, alleviate unemployment, improve the economic welfare, health and safety of the people of the state.

As used in this section "new industrial plant or plant" means: (A) new buildings, structures or facilities, and new equipment, machinery, or existing buildings, structures or facilities which are used in manufacturing, fabricating, assembling, refining, converting or processing goods, products or materials, whether or not further manufacture, fabrication or processing is required before use or conversion, or are used as terminal facilities for shipment of goods, products or materials other than storage for hire, the construction of which commenced after January 1, 1975, or (B) existing buildings, structures or facilities which were substantially unused for any purpose stated in clause (A) of this paragraph for a period of at least two years prior to February 1, 1975, and which are used for one or more of such purposes as commenced thereafter and prior to January 1, 1981; and (C) the operation of such new industrial plant or plants creates additional jobs within the state.

As used in this section "existing industrial plant or plant" means buildings, structures or facilities which are used for one or more of the purposes stated in clause (A) of the preceding paragraph but which do not qualify as new industrial plants under the preceding paragraph. Laws may be passed to provide for the assessment of an industrial plant as an existing industrial plant under this section after termination of the tax exemptions and exclusions applicable to it as a new industrial plant.

As used in this section "area of critical need" means one or more areas within a municipal corporation determined by the board herein created to have critical need for new industrial plant development to create jobs or revitalize such area. Such determination of the board shall be based upon relevant criteria including one or more of the following: the level of unemployment, the concentration of low and moderate income persons and families and those receiving public assistance in, or the proximity of, the area to a commuting distance from the area, the degree of physical deterioration or functional obsolescence of buildings and structures or the need for redevelopment in the area.

With respect to each new industrial plant there shall be exempted and excluded for the period of exemption and exclusion: from the base or measure of corporate franchise taxes imposed by the state, the income and the value of capital, surplus, undivided profits and reserves, or worth, or any other base or measure for such taxes, of the business entity operating such new industrial plant allocable, apportionable or attributable to this state to the extent such are allocable, apportionable or attributable to such new industrial plant, from income taxes imposed by the state, the income of the new industrial plant, from all ad valorem property taxes, the tangible personal property which is used or held for use at such plant, or produced at such plant while held by the operator of such plant, and one-half the assessed value of the improvements on land comprising a new industrial plant if located within an area of critical need. The exemption of tangible personal property from ad valorem taxes shall not be applicable to such improvements comprising a new industrial plant if located within an area of improvements on land for the 1975 tax year.

The applicable period of exemption and exclusion shall begin with the tax year next following commencement of operations of the new industrial plant and: (A) with respect to such industrial plants located within an area of critical need shall be for a period of thirty years; (B) with respect to new industrial plants located outside an area of critical need shall be for a period of fifteen years. Nothing in this section affects laws, provisions of charters of municipal corporations, ordinances, resolutions, or regulations pertaining to building, zoning or land use restrictions, conditions or requirements presently in effect or hereafter adopted.

If industrial operations at a new industrial plant are substantially suspended or terminated and are not resumed or recommenced within one year from the date of such suspension or termination of operations, the tax exemptions and exclusions previously granted with respect to such industrial plant pursuant to this section shall terminate upon expiration of such one year period. In such event, the tax exemptions and exclusions so terminated may, upon application to the board herein created by the owner of the plant, be extended, by the board for the remainder of the original applicable period of exemption and exclusion for such new industrial plant if substantial industrial operations are resumed or recommenced therein, and the tax exemptions and exclusions shall be extended for the remainder of the period in the event of such termination or reinstatement of such tax exemptions and exclusions, for the period thereof for that portion of the tax year in which such termination or reinstatement occurs. Laws shall be passed providing for the continuation and reinstatement of tax exemptions and exclusions with respect to new industrial plants granted pursuant to this section in the event of a sale, lease or other transfer of such plant from one business entity to another business entity but the original applicable period of exemption and exclusions shall not be extended thereby.

To the extent that the true value of new capital equipment of a taxpayer placed in or at an existing industrial plant and required to be listed and assessed for ad valorem taxes for the first time for the 1975 tax year or for the first time in any tax year thereafter in any taxing district of the state, together with the true value of all other capital equipment of the same taxpayer listed and assessed for such taxes in any tax year, exceeds the true value of all capital equipment of such taxpayer listed and assessed for such taxes in such district for the then preceding tax year, the taxpayer shall be entitled to have such new capital equipment, but only to the extent it represents such increase in value, listed and assessed in such first tax year and each tax year thereafter at a tax value which is one-half the tax value at which such new capital equipment otherwise would be listed and assessed for ad valorem taxes for each such tax year. The reduced rate of assessment being herein called the capital incentive rate. Provided, however, if the true value of all capital equipment, including all new capital equipment, of the taxpayer throughout the state does not increase for the then preceding tax year over the true value of all capital equipment of the taxpayer throughout the state for the then preceding tax year, then the taxpayer shall not be entitled to have the capital incentive rate applied in the current tax year or any subsequent tax year to any new capital equipment so listed and assessed in any taxing district in such current year. Provided, further, if the net increase of the true value of all capital equipment of the taxpayer throughout the state over the preceding tax year is less than the sum of the increases in the preceding tax year in all taxing districts in which such increases occurred, the amount of the true value of such new capital equipment first required to be listed and assessed for the current tax year, on each taxing district eligible for the capital incentive rate, shall be reduced to the amount of such subsequent tax year shall be only that portion thereof as results from multiplying the amount of increase in such district by a fraction the numerator of which is such net increase throughout the state and the denominator of which is the sum of the increases in the taxing districts in which such increases occurred. For purposes of the franchise tax levied by the state for the tax year 1978 and each tax year thereafter, an amount equal to the tax value as determined above of new capital equipment so listed and assessed shall be assessed at the capital incentive rate shall not be considered an asset of a taxpayer for purposes of determining the value of its issued and outstanding shares of stock or for purposes of determining the value of its net worth for any property factor used in allocating or apportioning to this state income or the value of capital, surplus, undivided profits and reserves or net worth.

For purposes of the preceding paragraph "capital equipment" means tangible personal property, other than inventory, used in or at an existing industrial plant, and "new capital equipment" means capital equipment, not previously used, acquired by the taxpayer after May 1, 1975, which means the entity which uses the capital equipment in or at an existing industrial plant; and "true value" means the true value as determined by or pursuant to law for ad valorem tax purposes.

Previously enacted laws and regulations adopted hereunder to define and describe further new industrial plants, existing industrial plants, areas of critical need, commencement of construction, commencement of operations, income of the new industrial plant, and the manner in which to make other provisions and establish procedures necessary for the purposes of this section.

There is hereby created, as an agency of the state, a board to be known as the Ohio Industrial Development Board, composed of seven members, including a chairman, as follows: seven members, including the chairman, no more than four of whom shall be members of the same political party, shall be appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate, and two members who may, but need not be, members of the general assembly and each of whom shall be a member of a different political party than the other, shall be appointed by the general assembly. Three members of the board shall be appointed by the governor and the first appointed shall continue in office for terms: first, expiring on January 1, 1979, three members of the board first appointed shall continue in office for terms first expiring on January 1, 1982, and three members of the board first appointed shall continue in office for terms first expiring on January 1, 1985. The term of each member first appointed shall be designated by the governor at the time of appointment. The successor of each such member shall be appointed for a term of nine years, except that, in the case of a member appointed to serve only to the unexpired term, a member of the board shall be eligible for reappointment. The compensation of the chairman and other members of the board shall be determined by the general assembly. The general assembly may appropriate moneys to provide for the cost and expenses of the board.

The board may act by the affirmative vote of five members regardless of whether all members of the board have been appointed and regardless whether vacancies exist on the board. Prior to the enactment of laws pursuant to this section, the board may adopt and amend regulations pertaining to tax exemptions and exclusions for new industrial plants, which regulations, when filed with the secretary of state and until superseded by law shall have the same force and law and the board may grant tax exemptions and exclusions under such regulations. No law enacted or regulation adopted by the board shall be subject to referendum or affect tax exemptions and exclusions granted by the board prior to the effective date of such law or regulation. Tax exemptions and exclusions for new industrial plants under this section may be granted for a period of not more than fifteen years.

The tax exemptions, exclusions and limitations provided for by this section are in addition to any other tax exemptions, exclusions and limitations provided for by or pursuant to this constitution or law.

Nothing authorized by this section shall be deemed to be prohibited by any other provision of this constitution. The classifications provided for in this section, and pursuant to laws enacted and regulations adopted under and consistent with this section are hereby determined to be reasonable and necessary to achieve the vital public purposes of this section. Laws enacted pursuant to this section shall not be subject to referendum and, with respect to laws enacted pursuant to this section, shall go into immediate effect.

Businesses which provided thousands of jobs for Ohioans have been driven away from the state by Ohio high business taxes. Ohio now ranks fourth in the nation in taxes on industry. Unless we reverse that trend, more jobs will be lost as industry moves out.

But this proposal goes much farther. It is a common sense approach to bringing jobs to depressed areas such as inner cities and poor rural areas.

Here's how it works:

1. Manufacturing industries bringing new jobs into Ohio will be granted a 15-year moratorium on the payment of the corporate franchise tax and the state tangible personal property tax.
2. Manufacturing industries bringing new jobs into depressed areas will receive stronger incentives. They also will be granted a moratorium on the payment of the corporate franchise tax and the state tangible personal property tax.

Local government will lose no money as a result of this amendment. In fact, with more people working instead of being on welfare and unemployment, the tax base in Ohio for schools and other government functions will be stronger than ever.

This approach is nothing new. It is the same as the method being used by southern states as they lure industry into the state by offering tax breaks. It is time for Ohio to stop this exodus of industry. This amendment will accomplish that goal.

Committee for the Amendment: Thomas J. Moyer, A.G. Lancione, Charles F. Kurfess, Michael J. Maloney, Robert T. Secrest.

ARGUMENT IN OPPOSITION TO PROPOSED AMENDMENT

Vote NO on Issue 2.

Issue 2 will raise your property taxes.

The Issue proposes to exclude any new, expanding or modernizing manufacturing industry from all ad valorem property taxes, and one half of all real property taxes for 30 years in "critical areas" and 15 years elsewhere. These same industries will require significant increases in city services and schools which your property taxes support. While big business pays lower taxes, you pay for higher property taxes. YOU DO!

Issue 2 will raise your state income tax.

The Issue proposes to exclude these same industries from state corporate franchise taxes on capital, surplus, undivided profits and reserves, and net worth attributable to the new facility. Costs for state services increase, but industries will be excluded from paying their fair share. When industry pays less, you pay more. YOU DO!

Issue 2 CANNOT GUARANTEE NEW JOBS.

Issue 2 will reduce the state's energy curtailment in the nation. In view of this energy crisis there is little chance of new industry locating in Ohio as a result of these incentives.

The greater danger is for existing industries to be lured out of the state by incentives to expand or modernize their facilities, and thereby qualify to be excluded from taxes.

Who pays for this loss in existing industry and income tax revenues? YOU DO!

Issue 2 will require you to carry industry's share of the tax burden in support of local schools. It will cost you, not just once, but every time a school issue is on the ballot over the next 30 years. Who pays? YOU DO!

Three CETA Jobs Available In The County

There are three job openings under the Comprehensive Employment Training Act in Pickaway County, it was announced today by Greg Bigham, coordinator of federal program for the commissioners.

The jobs all require either special training or experience. Two of the jobs are in the county engineering department. They are tax map draftsman and tax map aid. The third is as a caseworker in the Pickaway County Welfare Department.

To date the county has been able to add $161,500 to the annual payroll by placing persons in CETA funded jobs in the city and county. The three openings remaining will add another $21,000 to the annual payroll.

The CETA program is funded until June 30, 1976. According to Bigham, all indications are that it will be continued in some form.

The purpose of the program is to provide jobs for the unemployed and economically disadvantaged.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

TV Buff Tired of Tube Boobs

DEAR ABBY: Why are people ashamed to admit that they watch television?

I have friends who say, "I NEVER watch television, but I just happened to catch 'All In The Family' last Monday evening, and..."

That kind of snobbery irks me to no end. What's with these phonies, anyway?

ENJOYS TV
DEAR ENJOYS: Most people would like to appear to be more intellectual than they really are, and since they regard watching TV as something less than an intellectual pursuit, they're reluctant to admit that they're constant viewers.

It's the same kind of insecurity that causes people to say they read the book when they only saw the movie.

DEAR ABBY: With all the important problems you get, mine will probably sound like nothing, but I sure need some advice.

I am married to a stubborn hot-tempered man who has a terrible foot odor. His feet perspire, and he won't change his shoes and socks or bathe his feet when he comes home. He leaves his shoes on right up until it's time to go to bed, then he takes them off and leaves them in the bedroom. This smells up the whole bedroom like you wouldn't believe. It sure repels me from any romantic ideas I might have.

I have bought him foot deodorant and anti-fungicide sprays, which he used a few times reluctantly, but it didn't help much.

I can't sleep anywhere else because I have a bad back and have to sleep on a extra firm mattress that is in the bedroom we share. What do I do now?

ASPHYXIATED IN SAN CARLOS
DEAR AS: Move the extra firm mattress to another room and pleasant dreams.

DEAR ABBY: I am a clergyman, and as such, I perform many marriage ceremonies.

My pet peeve is the well-meaning shutterbug who insists on flashing his camera during the wedding service.

One such photographer actually kept crawling around on the altar, adjusting the bride's veil and the groom's coat. He even asked me to please "lean in" a little more toward the couple. And all this while I was performing the ceremony!

Please put something in your column to discourage this type of thing.

DISTRACTED PASTOR

DEAR DISTRACTED: Seems to me that a pastor performing a marriage, is, or should be, in command. He should lay down the conditions for photography, and if the client couple dislikes the conditions, let 'em hunt up another pastor.

MRS. GEORGIA SWEET, 896-2462

Our community was saddened last week to hear of the passing of two of our area residents. Our sympathy is extended to Lawrence Barnes and his family on the death of his wife, Eldora Barnes, 61, who passed away on Thursday evening.

Also on Thursday evening Donald Rolfe, 57, passed away. To his wife, Lucille, and daughter Jeanne Spring, and to other relatives we offer our sympathy.

Mrs. Madge Hoffman, still taking it easy from a recent heart attack, sent me a note to say how appreciative she was of the many calls, cards and flowers and especially to her neighbors' fast emergency trip to the hospital.

Also Archie Sweet, a patient at Mt. Carmel at the time Madge was there, is very grateful for the many kindnesses shown him at the time.

Church To Hear Missionary Intern

Joe Leatherwood, Pickaway County resident and Circleville Bible College student, will be the guest speaker during the Missionary Service, 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the People's Faith Chapel, located on Route 56 east of Circleville.

Leatherwood served as a summer intern to the Dominican Islands under the auspices of the Church of Christ in Christian Union through the college.

He will talk of the work of the foreign missionaries on the island.

Break Deadlock In Teacher Strike

NORTH VERNON, Ind. (AP) — The state has taken action to break the deadlock in the six-day-old Jennings County Classroom Teachers Association strike.

The Indiana Education Employment Relations Board Monday appointed a mediator to meet with the teachers and the school board Wednesday.

The cost of Ohio's present bond debt, coupled with these issues, will mean a loss to the General Revenue Fund of more than one half a billion dollars each year, a vast sum that could have been applied to improve existing state services or reduce your tax burdens.

ISSUE 5 BENEFITS ONLY THOSE PEOPLE WHO ARE LEAST AFFECTED BY REGRESSIVE TAXES.

Issue 5 as a sales tax increase is most harmful to those persons of moderate and low income who can least afford the additional tax burden.

The people who benefit from these issues are the people who will be buying the bonds, and sharing in the more than $5 billion in interest which YOU and every working man and woman in Ohio will be paying over the next 30 years.

ISSUE 5 CREATES A PERMANENT DEBT FOR TEMPORARY JOBS.

Issue 5 will place future generations in serious debt while creating only a minimal number of temporary new jobs, jobs which will last at the most for only a year or two.

Ohio cannot afford to go into debt to create a few jobs for programs of questionable value.

Circleville Tops AA Grid Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Akron St. Vincent-St. Mary and Middletown Fenwick may have some advice for Circleville and Newark Catholic, two new leaders in The Associated Press state high school football poll this week.

St. Vincent-St. Mary in Class AA and Fenwick in Class A led the ratings last week and absorbed losses. The Akron school fell to Lorain Southview 11-6. Fenwick lost to Franklin 14-13.

So Circleville seized the Class AA top spot while Newark Catholic went to the top of the Class A division.

Meanwhile, Cincinnati Moeller, the Class AAA pacesetter for the second straight week, barely averted the upset fever that struck 10 of the top-ranked 30 powers a week ago.

Moeller, which began the first Cincinnati big school to win an AP football crown, sidestepped Cincinnati LaSalle by the margin of a field goal 10-7.

Warren Western Reserve, No. 2 in Class AAA last week, took the biggest loss of the Top Ten powers. Lakewood St. Edward applied a 56-28 shiner, the worst setback in Reserve's 10-year history.

That vaulted St. Edward into fourth spot in Class AAA this week with 116 points. Moeller leads with 202 points, Warren Harding has 173 and Newark 133. The four leaders are all 4-0-0.

Rounding out the Class AAA Top Ten were East Liverpool in fifth, Upper Arlington sixth, Zanesville seventh, Western Reserve eighth, Kettering Alter ninth and Findlay 10th.

Circleville (4-0-0) was the solid Class AA leader, earning 192 points to 144 for former champion New Lexington (4-0-0). Wheelersburg, its winning streak up to 29 games, claimed third place with 139.

Ironton jumped four spots to fourth, followed by St. Vincent-St. Mary, Cleveland Holy Name, Toronto, Cincinnati Wyoming, Poland and Minerva.

Newark Catholic's lead was the most precarious. The 4-0-0 Green Wave was just six points ahead of 4-0-0 runnerup Canal Winchester 197-191. Fenwick (3-1-0) had 136 points for third place.

Monroeville claimed the No. 4 spot and then, in order, came Carey, Jamestown Greeneview, Salineville Southern, New Philadelphia Tuscarawas Catholic, Lowellville and Burton Berkshire.

A statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters rates the teams, based solely on regular season performances.

Here's how a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters rates Ohio high school football teams this

Baseball Great Casey Stengel Dies

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — The "Old Perfesser" is dead.

Casey Stengel, one of baseball's most colorful and adored figures, succumbed to cancer Monday night at the age of 85—leaving a golden legacy for fans of all ages.

"It's just impossible to sum up what he's been to baseball," said a close friend, California Angel General Manager Harry Dalton, after learning of Stengel's death at Glendale Memorial Hospital.

"He popularized our game with so many people."

Stengel died at 10:58 p.m., PDT—only a few hours after a close friend had disclosed that the one-time manager had a rapidly spreading malignancy in the lymph glands. Stengel had been admitted to the hospital on Sept. 14 for tests.

The funeral arrangements are incomplete. He is survived by his widow, Edna, whom he married in 1924. They had no children.

Stengel was a breathing legend. Perhaps more than any other figure in the history of the game, he earned the title of baseball's goodwill ambassador.

Casey raced into the Hall of Fame with his baseball exploits but it was only a small part of his exquisite contribution to the game he loved.

There are more diamond-like Stengel stories around than you can shake a bat at and countless witticisms from the language of "Stengelese" which he created with his gloriously fertile imagination.

Stengel never would say in a few words what he could say in a couple of hundred and anytime the grand old man of baseball held court, he always had his audience spellbound—and usually mystified—by his fractured syntax.

Stengel was always great in the clutch, Hall of Fame pitcher Warren Spahn once remembered.

"There's no doubt in my mind who is the most amazing Met of them all," said the great pitcher when he played for Stengel on the old, uproarious New York Mets. "I can understand why he's become an image. Why he's so beloved. Why he's the greatest ambassador the game has ever known.

"That man is a marvel. He's unbelievable. I don't care how old he is. He's got all those young fellows beat by a mile. I've never seen a more understanding person. Or a more dedicated baseball man. Sure, he's a comedian. Sure he double talks. But he's plenty deep. And nobody knows more about this game. If you listen to him carefully and concentrate on what he's telling you, you can learn plenty. A fellow can get an education just being around him."

The sometimes-clownish Stengel leaped across baseball history, spanning the ancient and modern ages with equal ease. And throughout the colorful career that covered 56 years, the hawk-nosed figure produced an abundance of rich stories.

Once when he was managing Brooklyn he took off his hat on the field—and a swallow flew out of his hair.

Another time, at Boston, when his Braves, for a change, were ahead, it began to rain. Casey pointed toward the darkening sky and demanded the game be called. He was ignored until he pulled a flashlight from a pocket and began signalling his bullpen with it. He was ejected.

Sometimes, to demonstrate his shock at an umpire's decision, Stengel would keel over in a mock faint. Once when he used this ploy, umpire Beans Reardon did the same thing. "When I peeked outta one eye and saw Reardon lying on the ground, too, I knew I was licked," said Casey. "So I got up and walked away."

In 1947 Stengel, then 57, was steered to the subject of umpires in an interview. Soon Casey was pounding his desk and shouting, "Those umpires! They take years off a guy's life, believe me. I don't know what keeps me going, honest I don't. They'll be the death of me yet."

In tribute to his 56 years in baseball, Stengel won a niche with the game's other immortals in the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y.

He managed the New York Yankees to stunning triumphs and piloted the expansion Mets in the most poignant part of their young history.

Stengel, enshrined in the Hall of Fame when he was 76, managed 37 years, including 25 in the major leagues.

Prior to his years of glory with the Yankees, Stengel had managed the old Brooklyn Dodgers and the old Boston Braves.

Charles Dillon Stengel resigned as the Mets' field boss in 1965 after breaking his hip in a fall. His career managerial mark showed 1,926 victories and 1,867 defeats for a winning percentage of .508. He produced 10 American League pennant winners and seven World Series titles with the Yankees.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. If you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

Sooners Stay Atop College Poll

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
After telling it like it is, Barry Switzer is telling it like it will be. "I'm still happy to remain No. 1 after our poor performance against Miami last Friday night," says the Oklahoma football coach. "But what I'm doing right now will take care of the polls."

Switzer, whose team reclaimed the No. 1 position in the AP's weekly poll Monday despite an unimpressive 20-17 victory over the Hurricanes, is going into an intensive huddle with his coaches for the upcoming match with Colorado.

While Switzer was being honest over the weekend, Coach Woody Hayes of Ohio State was being immodest. He said that his Buckeyes deserved to be No. 1 because of its 25-point beating of North Carolina Saturday.

Ohio State held No. 2 this week, same as last.

"He should think they're the Number One team, he's the coach at Ohio State," said Switzer, commenting on Hayes' brashness.

Despite that close escape at Miami, Oklahoma's defending national champions received 30 first-place votes and 1,086 of a possible 1,160 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Ohio State, 32-7 conquerers of North Carolina Saturday, collected 26 votes for first place and 1,065 points.

Last week, Oklahoma received 56 first-place ballots to three for Ohio State and a point spread of 1,192 to 1,031.

Southern California remained in third place, collecting one vote for first place and 878 points following a 19-6 triumph over Purdue. Nebraska, the nation's No. 4 team last week, retained that position after a 56-14 rout of Texas Christian. Missouri remained in the No. 5 spot following a 27-21 triumph over Wisconsin.

The remainder of the Top Ten was shaken up. Texas A&M moved from No. 8 to No. 6, passing both Texas and Notre Dame, after whipping Illinois 43-13. Texas fell one place despite beating Texas Tech 42-18 and Notre Dame slipped from seventh to eighth although the Fighting Irish crushed Northwestern 31-7.

Alabama advanced from No. 11 to No. 9 by beating Vanderbilt 40-7 and Penn State jumped from 12th to 10th after a 30-10 whipping of Iowa.

Here are the Top Twenty teams in The Associated Press college football poll, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points based on 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

Ali, Frazier Battle For Ring Crown

MANILA (AP) — Muhammad Ali fired off his final taunts and Joe Frazier let the smoke burn inside himself Monday in the smoldering hours before their 15-round rubber battle for the heavyweight boxing championship of the world.

The defending champion, Ali, was in full voice and high spirits while the one-time titleholder and challenger, Frazier, maintained a tremendous calm and refused any brash predictions of an early knockout.

The bout is scheduled Wednesday at 10:45 a.m., local time (Tuesday 10:45 p.m., EDT, in the United States) in the 25,567-seat indoor coliseum.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Planets indicate some complications not easily unravelled. Yet, by diligent process, you will be able to rack up more than just fair results.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): While there is little to prevent you from carrying on as planned, as you must, there are unexpected events and details that may crop up, so be ready.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Wait and watch before you undertake new ventures, but do not hesitate where real advantages abound. A somewhat mild day, but tricky in spots.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Be alert for a business opportunity that may help to increase your resources. Not a good day for travel, however. Best stick to the home front.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Keep your plans to yourself now. If revealed, you are sure to face interference and objections. Be especially secretive about any ideas you have regarding finances.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Be sure of the logic of your statements and decisions. Recognize a bright idea — yours or another's — and put into action whichever seems most likely to succeed.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): A good friend may help you to advance a pet project now. Your own ideas, too, should be highly imaginative — and feasible, as well.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Stellar influences somewhat mixed. In all situations, rely upon knowledge intelligently sought, and upon good advice. Do not depend solely on your own ideas.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Generous Jupiter influences now stimulate your endeavors and your aspirations for future attainment. This is no time to rest on past laurels. Put forth best efforts.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): An old financial problem can be solved now, so devote day to this task. Then, with clearer mind, you can go on to new interests, renewed vigor for current undertakings.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Planetary restrictions lift now and you can safely conclude negotiations, agreements of any kind. Romance and creative interests also favored.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Place your confidence in hard facts rather than "feelings" and, in discussions with others, don't be overly imaginative. You could read too much into their words.

YOU BORN TODAY have a vibrant, warm personality, are gregarious by nature and extremely artistic in all that you do. You also have excellent judgment and your sense of balance (as symbolized by the scales in your Sign) would make you an eminent member of the judiciary. You could excel in any of the arts and are highly innovative in your methods. Many statesmen, adventurers, musicians, writers, specialists in medicine (particularly researchers) and inventors of the unique were born under Libra. You can give a novel twist to an old idea and make it freshly interesting. Birthdate of: Vladimir Horowitz, world renowned pianist; Julie Andrews, actress.

Pete Johnson Named Top Big Ten Player

CHICAGO (AP)—Pete Johnson, Ohio State's powerful fullback who scored five touchdowns in a 32-7 victory over North Carolina last Saturday, has been named the Big Ten Player of the Week on offense by The Associated Press.

Johnson, a 248-pound junior from Long Beach, N.Y., scored all five touchdowns from inside the five-yard line to break an Ohio State record of four in one game held by eight different players. He also finished the game with 148 yards rushing.

Berry To Throw Out 1st Playoff Pitch

CINCINNATI (AP)—Retiring Cincinnati Mayor Theodore M. Berry will throw out the first ball Saturday to open the National League Playoffs between the Reds and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

National League President Charles "Chub" Feeney will perform the same function in the second game Sunday. Both teams move to Pittsburgh for the next game in the best of five series to determine the pennant winners of the National League.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP)—Today the show. Then, he said, he took the idea to CBS, which financed the episodes he has on tape. The then-CBS programs chief, Fred Silverman, saw them, liked the concept, but wanted two major changes, Lears said.

He wanted the show to be a once-a-week, hour-long evening series and wanted it taped before a live audience, as is the custom with such Lears shows as "All in the Family," "Maude" and "The Jeffersons."

In short, Lears said, "what he wanted was another cookie from my cookie cutter." The producer said he balked at both requests and took his wares to NBC, which said it had no place in its schedule for it.

He said Silverman, now programs chief at ABC, still has no eyes for "Mary Hartman" without some changes. He quoted the executive as saying, "I don't understand it in its present form."

"See, he doesn't understand that the intention of the show was to appeal to people on two levels," Lears said, meaning the show could be taken as serious or funny social comment.

"If you'd seen it with, say, 15 people, and you were laughing in places, somebody might have turned to you — and I've seen this happen — and said, 'What the hell were you laughing about? That's tragic.'"

"And you'd say, 'I understand all that, but I'm looking through another prism, I guess.' But the other person won't forgive. He or she sees only a tragedy. Those are the two levels it is to appeal to."

But he said he needs stations in at least two more major markets — or five smaller ones — buying "Mary Hartman" just to cover the cost of the five-day-a-week series.

If he gets them, he says, "we'll make it even if there isn't a nickel's profit in it, feeling sure that it'll succeed and then more stations will come in."

The sad-faced writer-producer, who only has two episodes of "Mary Hartman" on tape, adopted his unusual over-the-counter sales approach because he couldn't get any network to buy the series.

The two shows seemed radical for a soap opera. Their scenes were quick, the dialogue was brisk and each had a heavy helping of humor.

Lears said he first proposed the series to Brandon Stoddard, then head of ABC's daytime programs division. Stoddard liked it. Alas, Stoddard took another job and his successor didn't like
